NEW APPOINTMENTS

PRESIDENT NAMES W. C. BRISTOL, OF PORTLAND, U. S. ATTORNEY.

B. L. Eddy for Land Office—J. M. Lawrence, Former Newspaper Man of Portland, Now Crook County, for Receiver.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The president today made the following appointments in Oregon:

To be United States district attorney for the district of Oregon—William C. Bristol, vice Francis J. Heney, resigned.

To be register of the land office at Roseburg—Benjamin L. Eddy, of Tillamook, Or., vice Joseph T. Bridges, removed.

To be receiver of public moneys at Roseburg—James M. Lawrence, of Bend, Or., vice James H. Booth, removed.

Mr. Heney's resignation is the result of the conclusion of his work in investigating the land frauds, on which he has been engaged as district attorney since he superseded John H. Hall to facilitate his investigation. Mr. Hall was summarily removed. Mr. Heney took charge of the office a few days later, and has had charge of the investigations and prosecutions which have led up to the numerous land cases in the courts of that state. Mr. Hall's removal occurred last winter, following charges of obstruction of evidence in the late cases.

Mr. Heney was at the White House some nights ago with Secretary Hitchcock and, it is understood, conferred with the president regarding the changes as well as on the results of the land-fraud investigations.

Receiver Booth was indicted last summer for alleged participation in the frauds.

The appointment of W. C. Bristol as United States district attorney and J. M. Lawrence as receiver of the land office at Roseburg, is the result of the crisis which has been pending between President Roosevelt and Secretary Hitchcock, on the one hand, and Senator Fulton on the other. The news contained in the foregoing Washington dispatch was received at Portland shortly before 11 P. M., and was evidently given out to the Associated Press direct from the White House by the President's secretary, instead of following the ordinary routine of announcing appointments from the departments the following morning. It is possible that the appointments were the result of a night's conference.

William C. Bristol, Oregon's new United States district attorney, is a well-known Portland attorney. He came to this city from the East some years ago and was employed by Cotton, Teal & Minor, and Teal & Minor before engaging in private practice. He also served as land expert for the Southern Pacific land department.

James Lawrence, receiver of the Roseburg land office, is United States commissioner at Bend, Or., and editor of the Bend Bulletin. He is well known in Portland, having been on the staff of the Oregonian for several years, formerly living at Oregon City, where he was engaged in newspaper work, and where he first became familiar in land matters. He was appointed United States commissioner at Bend in 1902 by the late Judge Bellinger, who also indorsed him for his new office.

B. L. Eddy, of Tillamook, register of the Roseburg land office, is an attorney of well-known standing in the state. He served in several state legislatures, attained prominence as chairman of the judiciary committee, and was a leading candidate for speaker two years ago, and in the last state election an unsuccessful nominee for circuit judge. He is the author of the Eddy corporation tax law which has yielded the state a great deal of revenue. Mr. Eddy's appointment was agreed upon several months ago.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—It is reported here that one of the grand dukes plotted to arrest the czar at Tearskoe-Selo, his object being to proclaim himself dictator, rely on his promises to complete reform to secure the support of the socialists and working men.

Owing to the discretion of one of the grand duke's agents, the plot was disclosed to one of the czar's aid-de-camps, who promptly ordered the arrest of 20 officers and 25 men in various regiments.

The discovery of this plot has caused great consternation in court circles, more than any revolutionary movement throughout the empire.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 2.—The guards arrested at Tearskoe-Selo Thursday night and Friday morning numbered 250, including ten officers. Numerous rumors are current, including the assertion that one of the grand dukes is involved in a conspiracy against the emperor, but none of them can be verified. (It only seems certain that no confidence can be placed even in the guard regiments. Arrested soldiers are seen every day, escorted by comrades with drawn swords.)

St. Petersburg is swarming with Cossacks, the only troops against whom there is no suspicion of disaffection.

It is understood that the whole Cossack force of the empire, some 650,000, will be mobilized.

Forest Grove, Or., Dec. 2.—A wrecked and empty vault, with surrounding floor piled with debris, greeted the officers of the Farmers' & Mechanics' bank of this city when they appeared for duty at that institution this morning. Investigation showed that the robbers had made a complete haul, not a cent being left. The sum of $8,000 is said to have been secured. The burglary was committed between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. Entrance was gained through the front door of the office, which had been broken open with a crowbar. The robbers then dug out the left side of the bank vault, which was composed of brick, making a hole about the size of a small washtub, giving access to the safe within. This had been apparently surrounded with nitroglycerine, and the charge blew the safe almost to pieces.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning people living near the building heard the reports but thought they emanated from the office of the News Printing company and no attention was given to them. Mrs. D. Parsons heard the noise made by the pick used in digging the wall away from the safe, as it struck the brick, but thinking it was the patter of rain on tin gutters nearby gave no further thought to it.

The sledgehammer and some of the other tools have been identified by a local blacksmith. The pick bears the label "Section 64," and the crowbar is marked "S. P."

The robbed institution is operated by R. M. Doolley. While the exact amount stolen is not made known the rumors float place it at $6,000. The depositors will lose nothing, as the bank is covered fully with insurance. Sheriff Connell is here and with local authority is making every effort to locate the burglars. No clues are to be found so far, as the robbers left absolutely no trace as to their identity or whereabouts.

Portland, Dec. 2.—Portland Journal: A cargo of Oregon fir will be shipped from Portland in January to Genoa, Italy, and will be the first ever sent from this port to Italy. The shipment will be carried by the British ship Balmors, which was chartered yesterday by the North Pacific Lumber company. The vessel is at Iquique, on the west coast of South America, and will receive orders to sail at once for the Columbia river. She has capacity for handling about 1,500,000 feet of lumber. The product of the Oregon forests is becoming more in demand every year and already has been shipped to nearly every port of prominence in the world.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. CITY OF MOSCOW

HUNDREDS OF HOUSES BURNED BY THE REDS.

Extends to Czar's Palace—Troops Mutiny in Poland—Strike Silences all Telegraph wires. —Other News.

Warsaw, Poland, Dec. 3.—A railway telegraph dispatch just received here from Moscow states that a great incendiary fire is raging there and that already hundreds of buildings have been destroyed.

A few seconds after this information had been received here, the wire failed, so that no particulars could be ascertained.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—The Imperial Telegraph department announces that the only Russian point still accessible by wire is Kieff. Communication with St. Petersburg via Copenhagen has been interrupted since this morning. Messages via Eydttublen continue to be forwarded from there by mail.

Paris, Dec. 3.—The Journal this morning publishes a St. Petersburg dispatch, which was carried to Eydttublen (Eastern Prussia) by courier, which repeats the recent reports relative to a violent scene in the palace at Tearskoe-Selo.

The Journal says that the trouble was between Emperor Nicholas and Grand Duke Vladimir, and was relative to Grand Duke Cyril. The paper adds:

"It is certain that something extraordinary occurred there besides the disaffection of the guard, and that the whole domestic staff at the palace is now preparing to strike."

Warsaw, Dec. 2.—As the effect of the czar's edict suspending martial law throughout Poland, all patrols of troops have disappeared from the streets, although dragoons are still in reserve in the courtyards and police stations. Here in Warsaw conditions are very quiet on the surface, although there is no certainty that they will long remain so, as the revolutionists are inclined to hold meetings, at which the most incendiary speeches are made and the people urged to rise against the czar.

Nearly every Russian establishment and public structure in Southern Poland has been damaged by stones thrown through the windows while town pictures of the czar have been stolen and publicly burned by the "reds."

The reservists at Sembro, in the province of Lomza, revolted and demanded that they be returned to their homes, declaring that they would no longer act as police. The battalions of infantry were sent to suppress the trouble, but the officer in command, after approaching the barracks, marched his men back and told the colonel of the regiment that the men would not fire on their comrades in the service. Disorders are reported among the troops at the fortress at Ossowice, but no details are available.

The fact that the postal system is demoralized and the operators are on strike makes it impossible to learn how matters are going outside of the city. While the experts of the signal corps have been detailed to take the places of the striking telegraph operators, they refuse to handle anything but official messages, and even these are refused when they refer to rioting.

It is reported upon the best authority that revolutionists are shipping bombs into the country from the Austrian frontier and are arming all of their members, so they will be ready for the struggle for a "free Poland" when the signal is given to strike.

Kansas City, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Ina Berry, an insane woman from Washington, D. C., armed with a revolver, caused the passengers on the outbound Meteor train to Tulsa, I. T., from Kansas City, on the Frisco road, last night to vacate a car. The car was detached from the train at Girard, Kan., where at noon today the woman was successfully defying officials to arrest her. As the train approached Girard the woman looked herself in the woman's closet. A policeman at Girard was called and the train porter unlocked the closet door, and policeman Sturgeon attempted to enter. As the door opened the woman fired her revolver. The bullet struck a button on the overcoat worn by Sturgeon, which deflected it from its course.

A second attempt to seize the woman was made by a passenger on the train and the woman pointed the revolver through the transom above the door and fired. The bullet made three holes through the hat, and striking his right wrist, made a flesh wound. The passenger left the car in a panic and the car was sidetracked.

The woman gave warning of her purpose to secrete herself by shouting, "They are after me; they are going to murder me. They want my blood." The startled passengers in the car saw the woman flying down the aisle of the car. She reached the closet, slammed the door shut, and those near heard the snap of the spring when she locked the door. While inside she screamed continuously.

Most of the time her utterances were incoherent, but at daylight she became more rational. "They want to kill me," she yelled again and again; "but I'll get five or six of them before they get me." While the watchers stood about the car in the cold gray dawn of the early morning they were started to see the woman suddenly appear on the rear platform of the car. She carried her revolver in her hand, however, and no effort was made to take her. Some time during the night the woman had broken the one window in the closet. When the police went around to the side of the car at daylight they found that she had taken off her corset and hung it over the broken window.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 2.—Through an explosion in mine No. 1 of the Kemmerer Coal & Coke Co., at Diamondville, in Western Wyoming, shortly after midnight, 21 men are known to have lost their lives and 33 others are entombed.

Relief parties are working heroically to reach the entombed men before the after damp claims them. The scene about the mouth of the shaft beggars description, wives, mothers, sisters and brothers being frantic in their appeals to the rescuers to bring out their loved ones. Many workmen near the entrance to the mine were injured by flying debris and a large force of physicians is attending them. The cause of the disaster is unknown.

It is reported that the mine is burning and that there is little hope of saving those entombed. Rescue gangs are making slow headway on account of gas and fire. Many of the dead are Americans.

The explosion, it appears, was caused by a "windy" shot.

Four years ago 32 miners were lost in this mine and their bodies buried for weeks.

Five bodies were taken out by noon today. All five are those of Englishmen who came recently from England.

The full shift was not at work. Immediately following the explosion sheets of flame shot through the mouth of the shaft high into the air as though forced by giant fans. The vicinity was illuminated for a quarter of a mile, the darkness and great clouds of smoke followed.

In less than half an hour rescue gangs had been organized and started to work systematically. The men working on the surface near the shaft were badly injured and given the first relief. As daylight approached the rescuers were able to work to better advantage. Slowly they pierced the mass of debris and began finding bodies and corpses, blackened and almost unrecognizable except to widows and children who had gathered about, with cries of anguish urging the relief party to increase their efforts.
